NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS 2018

AIMS AND SCOPE
Applied Theatre Research is the worldwide journal for theatre and drama in non-traditional contexts. It focuses on drama, theatre and performance with specific audiences or participants in a range of social contexts and locations. Contexts include education, developing countries, business and industry, political debate and social action, with children and young people, and in the past, present or future; locations include theatre that happens in places such as streets, conferences, war zones, refugee camps, prisons, hospitals and village squares, as well as on purpose-built stages.

The journal has a global focus and representation, with an explicit policy of ensuring that the best and most exciting work in all continents and as many countries as possible is represented and featured. Cultural, geographical, gender and socio-economic equity are recognized where possible, including in the Review Board.

ILLUSTRATIONS
We welcome images illustrating an article. All images need a resolution of at least 300 dpi. All images should be supplied independently of the article, not embedded into the text itself. The files should be clearly labelled and an indication given as to where they should be placed in the text. Reproduction will normally be in black-and-white. Images sent in as e-mail attachments should accordingly be in greyscale.

The image should always be accompanied by a suitable caption (the omission of a caption is only acceptable if you feel that the impact of the image would be reduced by the provision of written context). The following is the agreed style for captions: Figure 1: Caption here. Please note the colon after the number and the terminating full point, even if the caption is not a full sentence. Copyright clearance should be indicated by the contributor and is always the responsibility of the contributor.

LANGUAGE
The journal follows standard British English. Use ‘ise’ endings instead of ‘ise’.

LENGTH OF ARTICLES
Articles will normally not exceed 5,500 words including notes and references – but not including the author biography, keywords or abstract. In some circumstances, a measure of flexibility is possible in negotiation with the editors.

METADATA
Contributors must check that each of the following have been supplied correctly:
- Article Title.
- Author Name.
- Keywords – minimum four to maximum six keywords (or two-word phrases). There is a serious reduction in an article’s ability to be searched for if the keywords are missing.
- Author Biography – authors should include a short biography of no more than 100 words, specifying the institution with which they are affiliated. For multiple authorship, the combined biography should not exceed 150 words.
- Abstract of no more than 150 words; this will go on the Intellect website.
- References – Intellect requires the use of Harvard references embedded in the main text in the following format (Harper 1999: 27).
- Bibliography – titled ‘References’.

NOTES
Notes may be used for comments and additional information only. In general, if something is worth saying, it is worth saying in the text itself. A note will divert the reader’s attention away from your argument. If you think a note is necessary, make it as brief and to the point as possible. Use Word’s note-making facility, and ensure that your notes are endnotes, not footnotes. Place note calls outside the punctuation, so AFTER the comma or the full stop. The note call must be in superscripted Arabic (1, 2, 3).

OPINION
The views expressed in Applied Theatre Research are those of the authors, and do not necessarily coincide with those of the Editors or the Editorial or Advisory Boards.

PERMISSIONS/COPYRIGHT/LIABILITY
Copyright clearance should be indicated by the contributor and is always the responsibility of the contributor. The author retains copyright of their contribution and grants Intellect an exclusive license to publish. Intellect retains copyright of the PDF version of the article. The copyright license form should be completed and sent to the Editors to accompany every submission.

PRESENTATION/HOUSE STYLE
All articles should be written in Word. The font should be Times New Roman, 12 point. The title of your article should be in bold at the beginning of the file, but not enclosed in quote marks. Bold is also used for headings and subheadings (which should also be in Times New • Author addresses – the submitted material should include details of the full postal and e-mail addresses of the contributor for correspondence purposes.

• Copyright consent form giving us your permission to publish your article should it be accepted by our peer-review panel. An electronic template is available from the journal office, address above.

Roman, 12 point) in the article. Italic may be used (sparingly) to indicate key concepts.

Any matters concerning the format and presentation of articles not covered by the above notes should be addressed to the Editor.

QUOTATIONS
Intellect’s style for quotations embedded into a paragraph is single quote marks, with double quote marks for a second quotation contained within the first. All long quotations (i.e. over 40 words long) should be ‘displayed’—i.e. set into a separate indented paragraph with an additional one-line space above and below, and without quote marks at the beginning or end. Please note that for quotations within the text, the punctuation should follow the bracketed reference. For a displayed quotation the bracketed reference appears after the full stop.

All omissions in a quotation are indicated thus: [...] Note that there are no spaces between the suspension points.

When italics are used for emphasis within quotations, please ensure that you indicate whether the emphasis is from the original text or whether you are adding it to make a point.

REFEREES
Applied Theatre Research is a refereed journal. Strict anonymity is accorded to both authors and referees.

REFERENCES
All references in the text should be according to the Harvard system, e.g. (Bordwell 1989: 9). The default term used for this list is ‘References’. Please do not group films together under separate a ‘Films cited’ heading. Instead, incorporate all films into the main body of references and list them alphabetically by director. The same rule applies to television programmes/music/new media: identify the director/composer and list alphabetically alongside books, journals and papers.

Please note in particular:
• ‘Anon.’ for items for which you do not have an author (because all items must be referenced with an author within the text)
• A blank line is entered between references
• Year date of publication in brackets
• Commas, not full stops, between parts of each reference
• Absence of ‘in’ after the title of a chapter if the reference relates to an article in a journal or newspaper.
• Name of translator of a book within brackets after title and preceded by ‘trans.’, ‘not transl.’ or ‘translated by’.
• Absence of ‘no.’ for the journal number, a colon between journal volume and number.
• ‘pp.’ before page extents.

The following examples indicate conventions for the most common types of reference:
Anon (1931), Les films de la semaine, Tribune de Genève, 28 January.
Denis, Claire (1987), Chocolat, Paris: Les Films du Para
doex.
Gottfried, M. (1999), ‘Sleeve notes to “Gypsy”’, [Original Broadway Cast Album] [CD], Columbia Broadway Masterworks, SMK 60848.
Woolley, E. and Muncey, T. (in press), ‘Demons or diamonds: a study to ascertain the range of attitudes present in health professionals to children with conduct disorder’, Journal of Adolescent Psychiatric Nursing. (Accepted for publication December 2002).

PERSONAL COMMUNICATIONS
Personal communications are what the informant said directly to the author, e.g. ‘Pam loved the drums (personal communication)’. This needs no citation in the references list. Equally the use of personal communications need not refer back to a named informant.
However, a more formal research interview can be cited in the text (Jamieson 12 August 2004 interview), and in the references list.

WEBSITE REFERENCES
Website references are similar to other references. There is no need to decipher any place of publication or a specific publisher, but the reference must have an author, and the author must be referenced Harvard-style within the text. Unlike paper references, however, web pages can change, so there needs to be a date of access as well as the full web reference. In the list of references at the end of your article, the item should read something like this:

SUBMISSION PROCEDURES
Articles submitted to Applied Theatre Research should be original and not under consideration by any other publication. Contributions should be submitted electronically as an e-mail attachment in Microsoft Word format. Books for review should be sent to the ATR Reviews Editor, Professor Michael Balfour, School of Education and Professional Studies, Griffith University, 176 Messines Ridge Road, Mt Gravatt, Queensland 4122, Australia.

The guidance on this page is by no means comprehensive: it must be read in conjunction with Intellect Style Guide. The Intellect Style Guide is obtainable from http://www.intellectbooks.com/journals, or on request from the Editor of this journal.
